DAILY GAZETTE.

Correspondence of the Janesville Gazette. Quavers from the Capital--No. S.

"THE SOBER SECOND THOUGHT." MESSES EDITORS :- Your readers will acquiesce, I am confident, in my proposition to postpone for a short time the further ex amination of the historical paintings of the rotunda. They are representation of past events, and may be very properly and profitably considered when the public mind is in a contemplative mood. But weightier matters, pertaining to the present, the uncertain yet hopeful future, are just now pressing upon the public heart.

I proposed in a former communication to speak on other than political subjects," I still adhere to that purpose, for patriotism has taken the place of politics, and parties, where loyalty rules the honr are unknown. The "head quarters" of recent political clubs are descrited, and the people rush together, as scattered flocks at a sudden clap from the clouds and consult together-shake hands over past differences and pledge for the general weal. How natural it is, nay spiritual, when public danger threatens, for the united heart of patriotism to respond. At the first flash of the proclamation how quick the response-how emphatic the the amen from "the sinews of war," the men and the money "-Wall street " honors" the government draft for millions, unasked. Chestnut street is bluckaded with men eager to culist in the government service. Fired with the enthusiasm of the hour, they demand obeigance to their country's flag from friend and foe.

In this city the feeling has been intense, a great change has taken place since the news of the commencement of hostilities, and hardly a man is to be found who does not heartily sustain the administration .--Although a great many of the business men, merchants and mechanics are native Virginians, or are intimately connected with them in business relations, yet there is no wavering in their firm purpose to maintain the integrity of the Union on account of what Virginia may or may not do. Although the Richmond Whig declares that the fate of the Union depends upon the flat of Virginia--she made the Union and she can unmake it "-yet Washingtonians have a much firmer faith, a stronger reliance upon the power of the government, and the justice of their cause, than they have in their natural allies the Virginians; and especially if Virginia makes a traitorous move. This is unmistakably evinced and cause to spring up in place of the hald spots a fine by the surprising alacrity with which the growth of new hair. Applied according to directions, it will turn under the government. Several new companies are formed every day, and the officers in charge at the war department have been busy for seven or eight days past in inspecting and swearing in the companies offering themselves.

But there is one prominent trait in the general appearance of the people—in the tone of popular ulterance, that cannot be mistaken. It is that produced by "the sober second thought of the people-never wrong and always efficient." There is no re-action from the first burst of enthusiasm, but it has seemed to settle down into an abiding and fixed purpose, deliberately laken, with the full and free assent of the will, the judgment and the heart. Let this be the case every where, and more especially let those who volunteer to serve the country in this hour of peril, see to it, that they count the cost from the beginning to the end, with all the hardships, privations and dangers of a three months campaign fully before their minds. If there is any fighting to be done, it will be fierce and sanguinary. If happily there shall be no necessity for bloodshed, a soldiers life at best is a hardship. And to those who go not forth, but perform other public duties of the country, and all classes of citizens, let there be a meeting of this calamity square in the face, with an almost certain prospect of a violent and bitter war, and with one heart and one voice let there be an unreserved consceration of a united and virtuous people, forgetting minor differences, to the common cause of "LIBERTY AND UNION NOW AND FOREVER, ONE AND INSEPERABLE."

Will the poor deluded traitors, who in their intoxication and folly have inaugurated this reign of terror, stop long enough in their mad career to indulge " the sober see oud thought?". It is to be feared not. It is said that the President's proclamation was read before their mock cabinet "with peals of laughter!" Poor men; how little they realize the destruction that awaits them. Verily, " whom the Gods would destroy, they first make mad." A. Washington, April 17th, 1861.

No More Bacon -Ten tierces of hams, 13,000 lbs., were shipped hence yesterday by Illinois Central Railroad for Momphis If this shipment gets through safely, it will be the last at all events. "Memphis is out of the Union; there are no Union men here." If that dispatch is true, they can have no more hams in this market, and must get, as well as save, their bacon as best they may .- Chicago Tribune.

That uncompromising organ of democracy, the Cleveland Plaindealer says: It is our country. It belongs neither to the Cotton or Congo purty, and when its existence is endangered, as now, by these rival sections, we have got an active and patriotic duty to perform. What is that duty? It is this—Under any president lepatriotic duty to perform. What is that duty? It is this—Under any president legally elected, under any administration constitutionally recognized as the government de facto, the flag of the republic, the stars and stripes, must be triumphantly sustained over all its enemies, foreign or domestic.

WAR MEETING.

The patriotic citizens of

will meet in the city of JANESVILLE,

On THURSDAY, the 25TH OF APRIL, to consult together upon the present condition of our country, and to take such action as the exigency of the times demand,

Patriots rally to the call of your country. [Signed by two hundred citizens of the county.]

Outfit for the War.

The men who leave this city for the war should have a good outfit. War does not consist altogether in excitement and glory. It is a practical business, and should be prosecuted with system and foresight. Our men need to be made as comfortable as possible while on the march, and in the camp. This will prevent disease and suffering, and render the corps more efficient, and more contented with their lot. It is doubtless the intention of the government to supply them with uniforms and an outfit, but they may be needed for a sudden emer. gency, and may thus be unable to procure all the necessary articles of the outfit; or possibly what they do get in this way may not be of the best quality. The State will doubtless refund this to us if we procure it for them, and the general government will pay the State. We think it incombent upon every locality to procure a good outfit for the soldiery sent from their midst for the arduous duties which lie before them. The men who go from Janesville should be considered the sons of the city, and we should care for them with the same tender ness and solicitude that each of us would for one of our own families. We do not believe it is the duty of the relief committee appointed at the last citizens' meeting to attend to this. The special business of that committee is to attend to the care of the families of the recruits, and we understand they are preparing to do that work in a systematic and thorough manner. That committee has already sufficient work on hand to occupy their time. If anything is done in accordance with the suggestions we have made, it would, we think, be the proper business of the common council of the city. That body might act in accordance with the suggestions or directions of the Governor of the State, in regard to procurwould be harmony of action. In connection with what we have written above, we present the following remarks of the Cincinnati Gazette, in relation to the proper outfit of a volunteer soldier:

ing uniforms and outfit, and thus there

The result of the experience of the war department is probably as good a guide in regard to uniform as can be had; though we doubt if the early American prejudice in favor of blue is not at the loss of durability in the color. The blue pantaloons fade badly in hard service. Probably the best uniform for economy, durability, and for preserving its appearance against all weather, wear and dirt, is the gray. Our state troops follow rigidly the United States uniform-dark blue coat and light blue pantaloons. That is probably the best of any of the colors worn by the armies of the great powers, except the Russian, whose uniform is dark gray, and it was generally approved by the English officers in the Crimea.

outfit for a campaign. This he can easily do. Of course the luxnry of clean shirts is foregone when troops are on a war footing, and it would be best to dispense with white shirts and collars altogether from the start. A couple of colored woolen shirts would answer for the season, with an occasional washing out and "banging on the bushes" when resting in camp; for of course every thorough soldier can wash his own clothes, and dress and cook his own victuals, and is supposed to have a genius for foraging, and providing things to make bimself comfortable and "duly thankful." Brogans are better than boots for the march and for fighting. A stout-soled brogran can be adjusted so as to save the feet from galling, much better than a heavy boot, and causes much less inconvenience when thoroughly wet. With a pair of these, two woolen shirts, two pairs of woolen drawers, stout socks, a fatigue jacket, vest, pantaloons of the present easy style, military cap, a loose army overcoat, and a blanket. a soldier, after he had been seasoned by a fortnight's exposure, would be able to go through the whole season comfortably, and he would soon find that he could sleep on the ground in the open air, without inconvenience. These he can carry on the march and have room for several day's provisions in his knapsack besides.

The government furnishes its soldiers a frockcoat in addition to these, but it is doubtful if this would be worth carrying, on a campaign.

COMMANDER OF FORT MCHENRY .- Capt. J. C. Robinson, of this city, is the commanding officer at Fort McHenry, near Baltimore. Events are transpiring which may make that a very important position, and we need not say, to those who know Capt. Robinson, that there is no truer or braver man in the army, and that he will give a orders to deal with the secessionists of Bal-

THE OLD VETERANS READY,-Three hundred of the veterans of the war of 1812, in the vicinity of Syracuse, N. Y., have tendered their services to Gov. Morgan in the present emergency.

More Money .- Mr. Guy Carter of Johns. town, in this county, has offered the Governor a loan of $10,000 for war purposes. Millions for the defence of the country have been offered by the patriotic capitalists of the country, and Rock county is not behind in the good work. The whole State loan of $200,000 would be instantly taken by this county alone if necessary.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.—This board or ganised this morning by electing H. A. Patterson president, and Judge Armstrong

Mayor's Inaugural. Tentlemen of the Council . It is the duty of all men in community to bear each thers burdens. To a certain extent each man is the ervant of his fellows. You and I have, however, been ore especially appointed servants of the people of this city for the ensuing twolve months. No man has any right to accept an office unless he is willing to engage actively in the performance of my duties appertaining to such office. I consider myself bound to use the same diligence in discharging the duties, in the position here ssigned me, that I do in my own private affairs. In this sentiment I trust you all heartily join, so that we shall strive together for the accomplishment of all those esults which tend to the peace, prosperity and happiness of those whom we are specially appointed to serve.

There is in this age, especially in this country, a tenden. cy to a reckless lawlessness among the people. Man is polined to be his own lawyer and judge, setting at delance all enactments which do not happen to agree with his individual notions, and in this way society is unhinged and becomes a mass of human beings with no emmon bond of union and strength in the affairs of this life. To enjoy life in any society, we must have a due regard for the feelings and wishes of our fellows within lawful bounds, but the laws of such society must be obeyed, or we might better live in a land where law s unknown. It is made our duty to see that the laws are obeyed in this community, and we must not shrink from the performance of that duty. A law may seem unreasonable, and the penalties imposed severe; nevertheless, while the law remains, it must be rigidly on-

The provisions of our charter in reference to the finances are very minute and stringent, and if properly regarded by us, the people can have no couse to plain of the use made of their money. Our city is not wholly exempt from financial embarassment, and vet In view of the perilous times through which we have passed, I cannot but regard our condition in this re spect as sound and healthy. I find by a report recently ado on this subject our indebtedness is as follows:

The bonded debt becomes due as follows: 1861, $1,500, 1862, February, $1,000; 1865, August, $,000; 1869, Au gust, $5,000; 1870, July, $15,500; 1872, August, $500. The amount of thirty-seven thousand dollars ($37,000 ls but a small item of indebtedness, when we consider that it becomes due at different periods during the next ten years. The property for which this indebtedness has been incurred in part, is three bridges, costing about thirty-four thousand dollars ($34,000), and seven school buildings with their fixtures and grounds, which have cost about eighty thousand dollars ($30,000). Added to this we have two engine houses and lots, two fire engines and fixtures and one hook and ladder apparatus. Considerable money has also been expended in lamp posts and street pavings and crossings, which are valuable improvements.

It is estimated that the amount of money necessary to be raised the coming year will be for floating debt $5,800, school expenses $6,000, gas $500, general expenses $1,500, bridges $500, bonds and interest due $4,400, fire department $500; total, $19,700.

A tax sufficient to pay this amount during the year connot be burdensome upon our citizens, and it is boped that our taxpayers will cheerfully meet this demand when it shall be made upon them, and not take advan tage of the law's delay, thereby embarassing the city government in all its departments. A resort to law for the collection of taxes is always tedious, and unprofitable to both parties, while it materially retards our progress. Without the willing co-operation of property owners in sharing the expenses of the government, we cannot enjoy the prosperity which is within our reach and eminently desirable. I regard our schools as a most valuable aid in the onward march of our city. It is eafe to say that no fowr in the west is better provided with schools than our own, and this fact has great weight with families from other parts of the Union and the old world when look ing for a new home. Persons may settle among us eeling reasonably sure of good schools, without exer bitant taxation. I shall encourage by all means in my power the best conducted free schools to which we can attain, for all the English branches of education. These schools should be convenient of access and free to all classes. But I am utterly opposed to free education in the higher branches. I consider it an imposition to obligs a man to pay for educating the children of his neighbor in a collegiate course or anything approach-ing it. If a parent desires to give his child the luxurles in education, he alone should pay for it. We have done our duty to the rising generation when we have educated them free af charge, for the ordinary pursuits of life, and I protest against the people being taxed beyond this. Solf-preservation, good order and the general welfare of seciety domand the one, while we are greatly wronged by the other system.

Our streets require your special attention as aldernen of the different wards. I am sure you must blush with shame as you pass through our most important theroughfares at the present time and observe their condition. If you have not noticed the disgracefu candition of some of our streets, before taking your seats here as city officials, I invite you aldermen of the first ward to walk from Milwaukee street bridge to the railroad depot and through River street from Milwausee street to its northern terminus; aldermon of the burth ward should take a walk through the streets eading each way from the Monterey bridge, and aldernen of the second and third wards need net pass out of Main street to find their services greatly needed. It is not uncommon for farmers coming here from the counry around us to find the worst roads after they get with A soldier should carry on his back the in the city limits, Good, substantial sidewalks should at once be made throughout our principal streets, and may I not venture to name one locality in particular in this connection? I mean from the railroad depot down Milwaukee and Picasant streets. Straugers step. ping from the care to sojourn for a time with us, should not be obliged to plunge into mud before they can reach the business part of the city. Our sidewalks must be kept free from obstructions. It is too often the case hat our walks, where mostly thronged, are more or less filled with boxes, barrels and goods of all descriptions. This in the future must not be allowed, and I ask you co-operation in relieving the citizens from this intolerable nuisance. I trust this whole matter relating to strests will receive your immediale attention, that they may be put in such order as is carnestly desired by our

And here allow me a word in relation to a feeling of envy or judiousy which often exists in small towns, thereby retarding their growth and general prosperity. Every good citizen will rejoice over and aid any substantial improvement in whatever part of the city it may happen to be located. They who cannot rejoice over the completion of a noble structure when not located in their immediate neighborhood, and regard with just pride the enterprising builder, must be sadly deficient in those higher virtues which ennoble humanity. Let us be sure to exhibit in our intercourse here that generous spirit of forbearance and kindness which will effectually prevent anything like that local jealousy which is always contemptible and mean. I confess that I rely much upon appeals made to the better part of man's nature for the maintenance of good order, and a lealthy flourishing progress within our city limits.

Brunkenness is increasing to an extent which saddens the heart of many of our people. In suppressing this scourge we shall do much toward dispelling all other ices from community, for this leads to pretty much the entire catalogue of crimes among men.

On a former occasion I urged upon the common council the propriety of providing ourselves with public parks, but during the six years which have intervened nothing has been done, and it may soom to you at this day as unnecessary. Nevertheless even though I may stand alone on this subject, I again urge its propriety. If the sole object of life is to get wealth, then never mind parks or anything else which does not tend directly to the acquisition of that other dollar which with some men would seem to be the one thing needful. good account of his command, when he has Let the professional men head over his books, and the merchant and the artisan pursue their avocations day and night without for a moment stopping to look out upon the beautiful or stroll for health. But, believing as I do, that public parks beautify a city and serve as agreeable places of recreation, while they aid in cultirating and giving tone to the tastes of society, and are made healthy places for resort, I carnestly urge that measures be adopted for the establishment of parks in different parts of the city. And I would especially reommend the immediate fencing of the grounds we now have, and the sotting out shade trees therein.-Such improvements very materially enhance the value of the surrounding property and are a scurce of health and comfort which would be very highly appreciated by our citizens. We ought also to do something in the vay of setting tress along the sides of our streets, thereby greatly adorning the same, and encourage in

> Our fire companies are deserving much praise, and we should be careful to extend to them all the nid and encouragement in our power. It has always seemed to me that firemen were of all men most unselfish and self-sacrificing, and I trust they will not be neglected Our city charter wish the ordinances should be published in phamplet form in order that we may readily understand what we have to do, and with that in our hands, I doubt not we will all readily respond to the demands it makes upon us. and gentlemen, I urge each one of you to the active, energetic performance of every duty, and that you will not rest satisfied until each ward is in all respects put

Our nation is racked just at this time with discord and dissensions, and in proportion as we exhibit a keen estimate of our obligations at home, shall we be prepared to respond in any emergency to the call which shall be made upon us by either state or nation. Loyalty is a badge to which every man should aspire. A loyal people must be a happy people. In sunshine or in storm, in peace or in war, they enjoy the quiet peacefulness of a calm spirit, whether in the seclusion of their own dwelling or upon the battle field.

I will not detain you longer, but praying most fer-vently that the God of battles, "He who commands the waves of the sea to be still," will at this time speedily estore to this nation peace, I will add the carnest hope that in our present sphere of action we may be so guid ed by wisdom, and prudence, as to descree the approbaidon of those whom we serve,

The Relief Fund.

The following additional subscriptions ave been made to the relief fund for the purpose of supporting the families of the men who enlist for the defence of their country, not heretofore published. The aggregate is a noble sum, $5,380, which will be increased by further subscriptions. We feel proud of the manner in which Janesville is coming up to the work .

For the Janesville Gazette. Union Meeting at Evansville.

The patriotic citizens of this village and vicinity met at the school house last evening, April 19th, and organized by electing J. McMellan President, and J. Soule Sceretary. Short, pithy and patriotic speeches were then made by Major Kelley, Rev. Mr. Tilton, E. Blake, Rev. Mr. Starr and Mr. Gladding; after which, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we, the people of Evansville, will do ail we can to sustain the government and constitution of the United States of America, and to this resolution we pledge "our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor."

A committee was then chosen to make arrangements for enlisting a company, to be drilled and held in readiness for action; the services of said company to be tendered to the government as soon as possible.

The meeting was large, and very enthusinstic. During the early part of the evening no ladies were present, but long before the meeting adjourned, a company of patriotic young women entered in double file,-indicating by their presence their devotion to the Union, and contributing not a little to the enthusiasm of the meeting.

Adjourned to meet again this evening. J. SOULE, Sec'y.

This report was re-committed to the fi nance committee of the present council for the purpose of including some minor details which the previous committee had not been able to obtain, with instructions to report the balances due each fund or the amounts overdrawn, and also the exact balance due by the city treasurer on the 15th

A PATRIOTIC WOMAN-We learn that the beautiful rosettes worn by the volunteers to-day, are the contribution of Mrs. O'Dea. Mrs. O'Dea is a native of Treland, and the patriotism of her race finds in her a living and generous illustrtaion.

The "red, white and blue" ribbons which accompany the rosettes were given by Smith & Bostwick.

THE above are First Class, justly popular, and prompt poying companies. They invite investigation into their condition and solicit business entirely upon their real merits. In point of solveney and reliability and honorable dealing, they have but few equals, and no superiors. They are founded upon the very best securities in the world—first class bonds and mortgages upon property in New York and Brooklyn—securities that have not, for the past ten years, depreciated below par, and are every way more reliable and permanent than sailtoad, bank, and other steeks, which are satiget to the fluctuations of the market, and liable, in times of panic, as the experience of the past teaches, to become almost, if not entirely, valueless. And white there are Companies entering the field of competition, well calculated to mislead by publishing partial and one-sided statements of their condition, and without a cash surplus of land sufficient to reinsure, their outstanding statements of their condition, and without a cash surplus on hand sufficient to reinsure their outstanding risks, the above memod companies always have and keep over and above their capital twice the amount, and in most instances four times, needed for the reinsurance of all their risks. With such a foundation, and with such a condition, they claim the right to look with confidence to the public for liberal patronage.

Policies issued without delay, and farms risks for a series of years taken at less rates than can be done by Matual Companies, and a cartainty given instead of an uncertainty. All losses promptly adjusted and paid.

New York Life Insurance Company, CASE CAPTAL OVER $1,900,000 all well invested for the benefit of Polley holders, so that the profits of this vast sum pays a large proportion of their annual premiums. This is unquestionably the very best Life Company doing business in this state.
